SHAPE UP FOR SUMMER

GABRIELLE FAGAN reports on ways you can look and feel good

The summer sun may be only be starting to filter through, but it can still rapidly trigger that distressing annual condition; 'body-image melt-down'.

Follow the experts guide to getting summer ready, the happy and healthy way.

● EAT FIT: The best way to begin your new regime is to get rid of processed food from the diet, says Dan Redwood, a personal trainer at Matt Roberts training centre.

"Eat mainly whole and organic foods as these will help provide cells with the best fuel to function. Make sure that you're getting a good mix of nutrients. Carbs should come from root vegetables and green leafy vegetables, and you will need lots of good fats from olive oil and foods such as eggs, avocado and coconut," he says.

"Protein should come from oily fish, organic meats and nuts."

● FAST TUMMY TONE: Improve posture and flatten the tummy with an easy exercise which takes only minutes. Joanna Hall, author of new book, Joanna Hall's Walkactive Programme (Piatkus, £13.99), says: "This is my number-one, all-round best abdominal exercise. Get it right and it works miracles. It takes four minutes 25 seconds. Do it as often as you can and it will lead to a flat abdomen and fabulous inch loss."

∴ Stand with good posture and your weight distributed evenly on both feet. Visualise a capital letter J in front of you. The long part of the J is closest to your body and short part is furthest away.

∴ In your mind, imagine you're tracing over the J with your abdominals. So starting at the bottom by the pubic bone, scoop out your abs and then draw them in and up towards your sternum, as if drawing up the long part of the letter J.

∴ To help you imagine this, slide your fingertips between your waistband and your tummy. Pull your tummy muscles in and up at the same time – away from your fingers – without expanding your ribcage or tensing your back muscles. Don't take deep breaths or hold your breath.

∴ Hold this contraction for a count of 10, then relax for 10. Repeat five to 10 times. Make sure your ribcage is down – your chest shouldn't be puffed up. Your ribs should taper down not out and your bottom should be relaxed, your back lengthened, not contracted.

∴ As you do this you are lengthening the area between your pubic bone and your breast bone, imagine these two points moving further apart: your abdominal muscles are getting longer, leaner and flatter.

● BEACH BODY WORK OUT: When training for general fitness, it is important to have balance in your programme, says Sarah-Jane Holt, personal trainer.

"Try to mix resistance training with cardio vascular training, for example two days resistance and then one day cardio," she suggests.

"Aim for three days training at the start and then add in more sessions as you get fitter. Begin the week with an upper body session followed by a cardio workout and end the week with a lower body workout to ensure you allow sufficient rest and recovery time for different muscles."

Resistance training should be balanced, she says. Aim to cover all muscle groups over the course of the week and consider dividing your resistance workouts into an upper/lower body split.

● GREEN UP: Drinking fruit and vegetable packed juices will help the body detoxify and rid itself of winter staleness, advises Alli Goodbold, nutritional therapist.

"Juices are proving hugely popular nowadays because they're a quick and easy way to boost health and energy," she says.

"They promote an alkaline balance in the body which helps the liver to perform at its best in purifying and detoxing and will also help ensure maximum hydration so that cells renew."

She suggests people should have one green juice a day as a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack.

Djanane Gray was among thousands who soaked up the sunshine and basked in a field of flowering lavender at a festival last weekend.

Mayfield Lavender, a 25-acre lavender farm in Banstead, offered massages in the field, bug hunts for children, a barbecue, wreath making classes and pilates.

Owner Brendan Maye said several thousand people came to the farm's first-ever festival, which turned out to be a great success.

He said: "People loved it. We wanted to increase awareness of lavender and celebrate the fact that summer is finally here."

ABUSE 'NO JOKE'

Court hears Childline disregarded teen's call as a prank

A teenager told a police interviewer she had called Childline to report being sexually abused by a Worcester Park man but the person she spoke to thought she was "taking the mick".

Jurors were shown a recorded video interview of an alleged victim taken in 2011, during the trial of Michael Hopkins, 63, of Church Road at Kingston Crown Court on Tuesday.

He denies 19 counts of sexual and indecent assault against five children, aged six to 12, between 2001 and 2010.

The teenager said she called Childline with another girl.

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

She said: "We called Childline, but they just thought we were taking the mick. I think they took it as a joke because we were both talking at the same time and trying to get our words in."

She added she only realised the touching was inappropriate after speaking to friends, and believed it had been happening since she was six or seven years old.

The underage girl said: "I was young and I thought this is what they do."

Mr Hopkins, was dressed in a dark grey shirt and black trousers on Tuesday, but had his head down most of the time. Nobody was present in the public gallery.

In the video the teenager described Mr Hopkins regularly "groping" her breasts and touching her "private bits".

She said: "He used to just do weird things to me. He used to grope me. He used an excuse and squeezed us by our private bits. Like from the inside of our thigh - he just used to grab it and squeeze it really hard."

But she said this did not happen to her on bare skin.

The young girl also told the interviewer she was punched in the head by Mr Hopkins after an argument about Facebook.

She also recalled Mr Hopkins trying to kiss her.

She said: "He started crying and sobbing and then flung himself on me. He went for a hug then tried to kiss me on the lips but like proper - like a snog."

"I hate him. Because he has just messed everything up."

At the start of the trial last week prosecutor Simon Connolly said: "The suggestion is that once the defendant has had a few too many, his behaviour becomes flirtatious."

St George's will be pushed to 'beyond breaking point'

by ALEXANDRA RUCKI
arucki@london.newsquest.co.uk

Dire warnings St George's Hospital will be overwhelmed if plans to close neighbouring accident and emergency (A&E) units go ahead have grown louder after new figures show the hospital is already having to take on thousands more emergency patients a year.

Retired Wandsworth GP Dr Mike Squires fears St George's Hospital will be flooded with patients if key units in St Helier Hospital and Epsom Hospital close – as suggested by the NHS review Better Services Better Value (BSBV).

Last week the London Ambulance Service (LAS) released figures that highlighted the pressure St George's is already under.

The LAS's figures showed that 32,884 patients were ferried to the hospital in 2012-13, an increase of 9.8 per cent, or 2,936 extra patients, compared to 2011-12.

The A&E unit at St George's already handles almost 150,000 patients making it one of the busiest in the country.

Dr Squires, who has led the local criticism of the review, said: "It will be absolutely overwhelmed, they can't even cope at the moment."

"If you have got more patients coming to St George's the stretched services which are at breaking point already will be just overwhelmed."

"More and more people are going to A&E because there is not the coverage there used to be in GP service."

"This farce has been going on since 2009. The BSBV exercise has cost taxpayers more than £4m so far and this year it will cost another £1.8m."

NHS at 65: Signing a petition at the protest outside St George's on Friday

In addition to increased ambulance patients, the hospital has also struggled with employee vacancy rates which have been languishing at about 10 per cent, which equates to 700 unfilled posts.

Dr Squires warned the proposals would put patients' lives at risk and force pregnant women into longer journeys.

He said: "St George's is already under pressure, with 700 staff short."

"The time it will take to ferry the seriously ill to hospitals across congested areas of south west London will lead to more deaths."

During a protest outside St George's on Friday to mark the 65th anniversary of the NHS, anti-health cuts campaigners lobbied the hospital and vowed to carry on fighting BSBV.

Campaigners demanded the seven clinical commissioning groups (CCGs) set up to lead the review reject the cuts, which will be back on the table at the end of summer.

Tooting MP Sadiq Khan also delivered a letter to Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt signed by MPs from across the capital calling on him to reconsider.

Bess Harding, founder of the Epsom Medical Equipment Fund, said: "Epsom is expanding and St George's is not going to cope. I'm surprised that the people who make these decisions have not realised it if the person on the street can see it."

MP Chris Grayling said:

"This is just more evidence that this is not the right moment for us to be talking about reducing the A&E services at Epsom Hospital."

"It highlights that Surrey Downs GPs need to concentrate on looking at an alternative for Epsom within the Surrey context."

But Dr Ros Given-Wilson, medical director at St George's, moved to allay fears.

She said: "It is important to remember the BSBV proposals to reshape A&E services will go to public consultation before any decisions are made."

"If services are to change in south-west London, the changes will be implemented over a number of years rather than overnight."

GPs oppose proposals

A majority of Surrey GPs who participated in a secret ballot oppose proposals by a controversial healthcare review to axe Epsom Hospital's acute services and believe that its future should be decided in a Surrey context.

MP Chris Grayling believes the result of the ballot, which he organised because he does not believe that "local doctors really agreed with what is going on", sounds the "death knell" for Epsom's inclusion in the Better Services Better Value (BSBV) review.

The review of acute services across Epsom, St Helier, Croydon, Kingston and St George's hospitals, which recommended that Epsom should lose its A&E, maternity and children's wards, was delayed last month, until "after the summer".

But residents, politicians and staff at the threatened hospital continue to remain deeply concerned about the uncertain future hanging over its vital services.

The secret ballot, which Mr Grayling instigated alongside other local MPs Sir Paul Beresford, Dominic Raab and Crispin Blunt, was sent to all GPs practising in the new Surrey Downs commissioning area, with the result independently counted and verified by the returning officer at Mole Valley Council.

With a 49 per cent response rate of the 206 GPs balloted, the majority said they were against plans for Epsom Hospital to be downgraded and that they favour decisions about its future being taken in a Surrey, not a London, context.

The first question GPs were asked was "Are you in favour of the BSBV proposals to remove A&E and Maternity Services from Epsom Hospital?" 32 per cent of the GPs said "yes", while 68 per cent said "no".

The second question posed to the GPs was "Would you support a separate process to consider the future of Epsom Hospital as part of the Surrey and not South West London health economy?" 82 per cent said "yes" and 18 per cent said "no".

Worry: MP Chris Grayling

Mr Grayling said the result of the ballot "clearly shows that we were right".

He said: "This vote shows that the controversial plans for Epsom are not just opposed by the public but by the doctors as well."

"This result marks the death knell of BSBV, and I hope that all involved will now call a halt and stop wasting public money on a review that, in the context of Epsom and Surrey, has never added up."

But Dr Claire Fuller, clinical chairwoman of Surrey Downs clinical commissioning group, said the fact that some GPs are concerned about BSBV came as no surprise, but not all had received the ballot paper and it was not clear how many of their GPs responded.

She said: "Without more details, I would question whether these findings are representative of the local GP community, as this has not been our experience through working directly with GP colleagues."

"As local doctors, we want to improve care for local people and we strongly believe there is an opportunity to do this by working differently."

Youth charity celebrates 40 years in the sun

A pioneering charity that has transformed the lives of disabled youngsters celebrated its 40th anniversary with a sun-drenched family fun day.

Meru, based on the Eclipse estate in West Hill, Epsom, designs and makes life-changing equipment for disabled young people.

Visitors at the event, on Saturday, July 6, were treated to face painting, tombola, daleks, raffles, live music, food and refreshments, and helped raised £1,000 which will go towards the charity's work. They were also able to discuss equipment ideas with Meru's engineers.

The day before, the charity held a professionals open day for people to explore its workshops and discover more about how it designs and builds equipment, with the chance for them to have a go themselves.

Meru was founded in 1973 by consultant orthopaedic surgeon Trefor Llewellyn-Bowen, father of the flamboyant home-style consultant Lawrence, and William Bond, a senior lecturer in engineering design, who were concerned by the lack of clinical facilities that could provide equipment for disabled children.

Last April it merged with Leatherhead-based charity Queen Elizabeth's Foundation for Disabled People (QEF) after running into financial difficulties.

Graham, a design engineer at Meru, said: "Meru is a truly creative charity, solving problems and realising dreams. I'm very proud to be celebrating 40 innovative years with an event that will include all of our staff, volunteers, beneficiaries, and hopefully raising awareness about Meru locally too."

Mark Mayer, one of Meru's former custom-made project clients and is now a loyal engineering volunteer, said: "I came to Meru for help when I was eight years old. Meru gave me the chance to lead a normal life."

"I love volunteering at Meru, you work with a small, friendly team and have the chance to make a difference by working on new and exciting projects."

Husband cleared of plot to murder Russian wife

by COURT REPORTER

newsdesk@epsomguardian.co.uk

A depressed husband has been found not guilty of plotting to murder his Russian wife.

Steven Hellewell, of Gorse Close, Tadworth, had been standing trial at Guildford Crown Court for soliciting to murder his wife, Elena Hellewell, 48, from Tadworth.

Mr Hellewell had met his wife, who lived in Russia, over the internet and the pair married after he visited her there.

The couple had a stormy relationship and broke-up and reconciled a number of times before Mrs Hellewell walked out for good last year.

The court heard that, although Mr Hellewell persistently telephoned and texted his wife, waited outside the Asda supermarket where she worked, and tried to make con-

Banning order imposed

Following the verdict, Judge Christopher Critchlow imposed a 10-year restraining order on Mr Hellewell, banning him from contacting Elena Hellewell or his estranged son Kerry Lee Hellewell, or visiting the Asda supermarket or car park where she worked.

He has been remanded in custody until next month, when he will again appear at the court to be sentenced for unlawfully having a mobile phone while on remand in prison and illegally using the device to transmit a message.

tact with her through her children after this, "Mrs Hellewell was not having any of it".

It was alleged Mr Hellewell then asked his estranged son to kidnap her so he could kill her.

Police arrested him on December 17 last year, the day his son arrived at Tattenham Corner, before tipping them off about his father's alleged plans.

But Mr Hellewell told the court that he had never intended to kill his wife. Instead he had been planning to kill himself in her presence.

In his summing up on Monday, Yogain Chandarana, defending, made reference to "what Winston Churchill described as his black dog - depression" and used the metaphor throughout his statement to convey Mr Hellewell's mental state.

He said that Elena Hellewell had not mentioned to the police, but had admitted during cross-examination, "that he had said to her in October that he wanted to die in her arms".

The barrister said: "If there was really any intention to kill he had every opportunity to do it. What his intention was was to kill himself in her presence and that's why he had to come up with this idea of grabbing her."

He said that Kerry Lee Hellewell had been asked by his father to grab Elena Hellewell, not kill her, but that the son had "convinced himself" that he wanted her dead.

He said a "suicide bag" on the dining room table, containing tablets strong enough to kill an elephant, also contained envelopes with names on them and were intended for suicide notes.

Raffle winner driven to distraction

A woman who thought she had won a barbecue at a charity raffle found out she won a £10,000 car.

Lynette Wibberley, of Green Lanes, Epsom, was told she had won a barbecue at the event hosted by taxi company Roadrunners Gatwick on June 30.

Operations manager Jed Hindley said: "The owner of our business knocked on her door and explained the barbecue was coming. We then turned up in the car for her. As you can imagine she was quite shocked."

He said they brought the Toyota Aygo themselves and painted the wing mirrors green in the style of their taxi fleet.

Mrs Wibberley, who works as a learning support assistant, said: "I couldn't believe it."

Anonymous £1k donation gives appeal a big boost

A big-hearted benefactor has anonymously donated £1,000 towards our Shine On appeal for the Sunnybank Trust after reading about it in the Epsom Guardian.

The charity that supports people with learning disabilities and is based in St Barnabas Church, in Temple Road, Epsom, has raised £4,613 since the Epsom Guardian launched the appeal in May.

The charity, which provides a weekly social club, friendship programme and independent advocacy scheme for the learning disabled, needs to raise £75,000 by next April to continue running its services.

Tom Rhind-Tutt, the charity's founder, said the donation received last Tuesday, had given the appeal a real boost.

He said: "Generosity from people has been astonishing and reflects the importance of local community.

"I would like to say thank you to all those who have donated, as it is responses like this that make us more determined to continue to provide our services to the many vulnerable people."

Stranger asked girl to stroke dog

Police are hunting a middle-aged man who approached a schoolgirl and asked her if she would like to stroke his pet dog in his car.

The approach happened at 8.45am on Wednesday, July 3, when the 11-year-old girl was walking along Taleworth Road, Ashted.

The girl quickly continued with her journey and the man who was white, about 5ft 7in to 5ft 10in, and of medium build, did not stop her or make any physical contact with her.

He was wearing a black jacket with a white trim at the bottom, blue or grey jeans, and black trainers. He had a northern accent, an earring in his right ear and a tattoo on his neck and ankle.

Call the police on 101, quoting MV/13/2520, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Much Ado About Nonsuch as historian makes claim

by MIKE PYLE

mike.pyle@london.newsquest.co.uk

A historian has claimed Nonsuch Park could contain the last surviving stage used by William Shakespeare.

It is generally believed there are no stages used by Shakespeare that have survived to this day.

But an Epsom historian has claimed the Bard was likely to have used a stage on the site of the banqueting hall in Nonsuch Park for one of his plays.

Gerald Smith, an expert on the history of Nonsuch Park, said the banqueting hall, at the Ewell end of the park, would have featured an outside stage of the sort popular with the King's Men, the playing company in which Shakespeare was a member.

Nonsuch Park was a royal park at the time Shakespeare was active with the King's Men, formerly known as the Lord Chamberlain's Men, in the 16th and 17th centuries.

The park was often used as a hunting venue and the banqueting hall would have been used in the evenings for meals and entertainment.

Mr Smith said: "As part of the entertainment they used to fetch companies down from London. Different companies would have come down and it is entirely possible the King's Men would have come.

"We can't say for sure, I don't think we will ever be able to, but there is a strong possibility Shakespeare could have performed there."

The banqueting hall no longer stands, but Mr Smith said the stage would have been outside the hall, and would have acted as a decorative backdrop, facing west to catch light from the setting sun. He said the stage would have been on the raised area that still exists.

Councillor Mary Burstow called the prospect of Shakespeare having performed in the area "terribly exciting".

The revelation comes as a theatre group prepares to bring Shakespeare back to Nonsuch.

The Mayhem Musical Theatre Company will perform Much Ado About Nothing there on July 17 and 18. Tickets cost £13 or £10 for concessions and are available by calling 07976 872127 or visiting ticketsource.co.uk/mmtc.

Country crime fighters given national awards

Two bobbies have won a national award for policing Surrey's countryside and helping to bring down crime, protect animals and improve relations with travellers.

PC Mark Trezise, rural crime officer for Mole Valley, and PC John Hockley, rural communities officer for Surrey, won the local bobby award at this year's Country Crime Fighter Awards.

PC Trezise was recognised for having an "invaluable impact" on badger baiting, hunting offences, livestock worrying, the disturbance of bat roosts and buzzard and hawk deaths.

He said: "I am surprised and honoured to receive this award. It would be impossible for me to do my job without the support of the rural community I serve."

Through the efforts of PC Hockley, the membership of the Surrey Country Watch scheme has grown to more than 1,600 people.

In addition, he works with gypsy and traveller communities to make sure their needs are recognised and to promote mutual respect between the communities.

PC Hockley, who has served for 33 years, said he saw the award as an endorsement of his team and his support from senior managers.

He said: "I am delighted and humbled to have been recognised for doing a job I thoroughly enjoy."

He was awarded a Queen's police medal in the Queen's birthday honours list this year.

Experienced artist: Mary Branson's design for the roundabout

Winning design came last in the public vote

The public's least favourite design for a public artwork to commemorate the suffragette who died after running out in front of the King's horse at the Epsom Derby 100 years ago has been selected as the winner, it has been emerged.

It was announced last Thursday that Mary Branson's concrete ellipse design has been selected as the piece of art to be erected on a roundabout in Epsom Downs, to commemorate Emily Davison and other women who have achieved equality and votes for women.

Ms Branson's design features a cross beneath the ellipse, forming the symbol for women, and it would be aligned so that once a year, at dusk on June 8, the day Davison died at the Old Cottage Hospital in Alexandra Road, Epsom, the setting sun would appear held in its centre. A bench would be erected next to the roundabout, allowing people to sit and view the sunset.

But Epsom Council finally revealed on Tuesday, following repeated requests from this newspaper, that Ms Branson's design received the least number of votes in the public vote held at the Ebbisham Centre at the end of May, in which residents were invited to pick their favourite of the six shortlisted entries – which the council said would “form part of the final decision”.

Out of the 376 votes cast, Ms Branson received just 30.

Emma Dallyn received 119,

by HARDEEP MATHARU

hmatharu@london.newsquest.co.uk

Lucy Quinell 116, Nick Bates 96, Tony Smith 52 and Seamus Cudihy 46.

On June 3, Epsom Council suddenly announced, in a statement headlined Photo Finish, that the naming of the winning design, due to take place the following day at the Ebbisham Centre, was to be postponed “as the two favoured designs, as voted for by the public and deliberated by a panel of judges, are too close to call”.

The judging panel for the project, consisting of Councillor Clive Woodbridge, a representative of UCA Epsom and two Surrey artists, had shortlisted Mary Branson and Emma Dallyn's designs as the two finalists.

Coun Woodbridge said today the public vote “was always going to be a guide” which the panel “did take seriously”.

He said the panel never intended to “choose a top two” based on the most popular designs in the public vote and said that they believed Ms Branson's design “was a very strong candidate” and that the image submitted for her entry “did not do it justice”.

Coun Woodbridge said: “In one of the cases, Emma Dallyn, we were very much with the public but we had some questions.”

“In Mary Branson's case we liked the actual concept and the narrative was something we felt was very strong, but the visual image submitted didn't match it.

“They both had strengths in different areas and we couldn't decide between the two so we had both artists back and both put up a very strong case for their designs.”

Sarah Dewing, manager of the Emily Davison Memorial Project, said both finalists were “very good”, but the judging panel – consisting of Coun Woodbridge, two Surrey artists and a representative from UCA Epsom – were swayed by Ms Branson because she has “previous experience of delivering a public art project”.

A council spokesman also said that the public vote was “never intended to be the final decision”.

He said: “This is why the voting was not highlighted – it was only one element of the process.”

And he insisted that the public artwork project was not a council initiative, but is being driven by the people in the community with the council merely facilitating the process.

The spokesman added: “Clive Woodbridge, as an elected councillor, has been a member of the group involved in this project and has championed it within the council. The [project] group is made up from various individuals from the community, including councillors Jean Smith and Anna Jones.”

“The memorial and associated works will have to be funded from subscription and grants.”

Challenge with inspiration from suffragette

Youngsters wondering what to do over the summer holidays are being challenged to shoot a video, write an essay or make a piece of art.

Epsom Council is inviting them to create something on the theme of what suffragette martyr Emily Davison, who died after being hit by the King's horse at the Epsom Derby a century ago, would be campaigning for today if she were still alive?

The Epsom and Ewell Secondary

School Challenge is linked to local democracy week in October and is open to children over the age of 11 who live or study in the borough.

In addition to a trophy for their school they young people could win prizes for themselves.

Councillor Clive Woodbridge explains: “We want this to become an annual competition, with a different relevant topic each year. We have put the challenge together so that as many children as possible can enter, giving them the opportunity to use the full depth of their imagination and creativity.”

“The topic for this year aims to promote discussion and thought about the legacy of Emily Davison on the centenary of the suffragette's death, following the infamous incident at the Derby.”

Entries should be submitted before September 13, to Epsom town hall and full details of the challenge can be found at epsom-ewell.gov.uk.

Andy Murray has reportedly invested in plans to turn a historic estate into a luxury hotel and exclusive golf course.

Campaigners and developers alike are waiting to see if a High Court judge decides to quash permission for plans to develop Cherkley Court, the former home of press magnate Lord Beaverbrook.

Founder investors are believed to include the tennis star and founder members include Michael Sherwood, a top city banker at Goldman Sachs, and Rob Rankin, a senior executive at Deutsche Bank, the Sunday Times reported last week.

Cherkley Campaign secured the judicial review over Mole Valley Council's approval of plans for a world class hotel, private members' golf course and spa.

Campaigners, who argue the decision was a mistake, believe the plans will wreck the estate's precious landscape and see another golf course in the area as "unnecessary".

Someone called Andrew Murray had 500,000 partner shares in

The accounts showed an Andrew Murray also had three ordinary shares in Beaverbrook Golf Club Ltd in January.

Nick Kilby, Longshot spokesman, declined to comment on the Sunday Times article, but said advertising executive Sir Frank Lowe was enjoying his involvement in the project.

But he said the article contrasting Cherkley Court and the renowned Queenwood golf club, showed "expectations are high".

Police thwart suicide attempt

A woman who called police after becoming concerned a distressed woman might jump from a multi-storey car park has praised them for their work.

Lisa Wicks, 42, said she and her daughter were returning to their car at 1.30pm last Thursday after shopping in the Ashley Centre, when her daughter spotted the woman in her late 50s, sitting near the edge in the almost empty car park next door looking upset.

She said: "As we got to the car, my daughter said 'Mum look that lady's going to jump off'."

"I walked back and dialled 999 who said they had already been informed. "She kept moving and shuffling as if she was going to push herself off."

"The police arrived and then security from the Ashley Centre came as we drove out and cordoned off that bit of the car park."

"The police did a marvellous job and I am glad my daughter saw the lady otherwise who knows what might have happened."

Singing the praises of newly revamped station

by HARDEEP MATHARU

hmatharu@london.newsquest.co.uk

Commuters were treated to a medley of musical numbers to celebrate the completion of the Epsom station redevelopment.

The £20m development, which has revamped the station's ticket hall, facade, car park, waiting shelters, toilets and cycle storage, was carried out by Network Rail and developer Kier, in partnership with Solum Regeneration.

Its new shops, hotel and apartments, which include some affordable housing units, have funded the development.

Representatives of the companies joined station staff, commuters, and Epsom mayor Councillor Colin Taylor, for the celebration on Tuesday afternoon, which included performances by Rosebery School and Laine Theatre Arts.

Simon Rutter, a director at Solum, said no official ribbon cutting was organised for the station because "it was a building which was open and being used by people" throughout its construction.

He said the company was very proud of the end product, despite some "ups and downs" and has learned some lessons.

Foyer listening pleasure: David Biggs, the mayor, his wife and Simon Rutter, inset, were treated to a sing-song to mark the day

Of the controversial faces of Epsom on the station's exterior, he said: "The art we have ended up with is in keeping of the character with the building."

"It is a modern building, it does not pretend to be a market town building. We were concerned we would have a pastiche of the past on a very modern building and that would not have worked."

He said no artwork was planned for the bare-looking ticket hall as it was "meant to feel light and airy, not clogged up with things on the wall".

David Biggs, a director at Network Rail and Solum, said the changes would "transform the journey experience".

Responding to criticism that facilities on the platforms had not been upgraded as part of the development, he said: "The platforms were in good condition and have a nice character and feel about them."

The mayor said it was no secret not everybody likes what has been done, but said the development should be embraced.

He said: "It is here. It is finished. Let us find the best way of benefitting from it."

"All that remains is to move it into Zone 6."

Boris to consider Zone 6 idea

Boris Johnson has said the inability to use Oyster cards in Epsom, because it is not in a London zone, is a "serious point that Transport for London (TfL) are looking at".

During a visit to the Epsom Guardian's offices last week, the Mayor was asked about the paper's Zone 6 for Epsom campaign, which aims to have Epsom station included in the London travel network and be part of the Oyster scheme.

In a classically comical response, Mr Johnson said: "You want Epsom to become part of London? Shall we engulf

On it: Hardeep with Boris

Epsom? What about the whole of Surrey, Sussex, Hampshire?

"It is a serious point. It is crazy, for instance, when you arrive at, say, Luton, you cannot use your Oyster card."

"You cannot use it at Stanstead, or Gatwick - so we are looking at it." While he stopped short of endorsing Zone 6 for Epsom, he hinted it may be on the horizon.

He said: "I am going to be very careful because my colleagues get nervous if I have territorial ambitions, but good luck."

"There would have to be some sort of deal."

When asked whether this deal would have to be struck between the train operating companies, and involve money, he replied it would.

In May, MP Chris Grayling said train companies Southern and South West Trains were considering the practicalities of getting Epsom into Zone 6, but that the cost was still an issue.

Fun with forensics as CSI expert holds kids parties

by FRANCISCO DIAZ

newsdesk@epsomguardian.co.uk

A fingerprint expert who helped crack the first murder case in London with DNA evidence has started running crime scene parties for kids.

Janice Runacres, of Castle Avenue, Ewell, who has worked in forensics with the Metropolitan Police for 37 years retired last month.

The mother-of-two said she came up with the idea for Clued Up Kids when thinking about new activities for her boys.

She said: "I tried to think of an alternative to the bowling, football, swimming and paint-balling parties and decided to do crime scene parties, which I feel will be exciting and fun."

The parties are aimed at children aged eight to 12 years old.

A typical scenario will involve a mock murder scene where children can search for clues on a life-size medical skeleton in order to establish the name of the victim, the cause of death and the motive for the crime – just like a real-life police enquiry.

Partygoers also have the opportunity to have their fingerprints taken, decide which patterns they have and then look at the different types – whorls, loops and arches.

She recently appeared on ITV's This Morning programme and she demonstrated powdering and lifting

No laughing matter: One of the props children use in their search for clues fingermarks with Phillip Schofield, Holly Willoughby and Crime File presenter Sue Hill.

During her career, which began as a scene of crime officer, she has worked in Epsom, Sutton, Wimbledon and Kingston and New Scotland Yard's fingerprint bureau.

One of her most high-profile cases was the murder of Lorraine Benson, 22, in Raynes Park, in 1988, who had been beaten and strangled. This was the first-ever murder to be solved by DNA profiling conducted by the Met's forensic science laboratory.

Mrs Runacres added: "The children will have an insight into the intriguing world of forensics using authentic police methods and will be learning science without even realising it."

Sixty years on road of life for keen motorbike couple

A happy couple who once roared around the country on motorbikes celebrated 60 years of marriage last week.

Early on in their marriage Margaret and David Wightman were keen bikers and covered thousand of miles on BSA motorbikes.

Mr and Mrs Wightman, who have lived in Epsom for 40 years, celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary on Thursday, July 4.

Over the years Mrs Wightman has patiently indulged her husband's hobbies including his time editing a magazine dedicated to investigating UFOs.

The couple, originally from Lancashire, met shortly after Mr Wightman finished

by ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

serving as an engine fitter in the RAF when Mrs Wightman was just 16.

At the time he was fitting machine guards as part of his sheet metal apprenticeship while she was working in a textile mill.

They married four-and-a-half years later at a church in Wigan and moved to Surrey in 1963.

Mr Wightman was an engineering works manager and Mrs Wightman was a nurse for 27 years at the Manor Hospital, which was part of the Epsom hospital cluster, until her retirement.

The pair are rugby league supporters and remain loyal to their respective home teams. He supports Wigan and she supports the Saints, St Helens Rugby Football Club.

They have five grandchildren aged 15 to 22.

Daughter Sandra Hobson said: "They're not great ones for showing huge amounts of emotion, as you might expect from their generation, but I think they're privately thrilled to have their family around them helping to make it a special day and to share some of their memories of the past 60 years."

"My sister Alison and I are very proud of them both and grateful that we are able to share their special day with our children too."

Council saved £27m last year for taxpayers

Taxpayers have been saved nearly £13,000 an hour for a year, according to Surrey County Council (SCC) that said it has been "driving harder bargains" with businesses.

A SCC spokesman said that "tough negotiating" with IT businesses, building firms and energy suppliers has helped it to save £27m in the last financial year - beating its £25m target.

He said this equates to almost £12,980 an hour, or more than £216 a minute, in a 40-hour working week, which has pushed up SCC's savings from striking better deals to £83m over the past three years.

Councillor Denise Le Gal, SCC's cabinet member for business services, said:

"We'll continue to focus on finding new and innovative ways of doing things more efficiently while providing excellent services to the people of Surrey."

SCC aims to reduce its annual budget by around £250m by 2016.

Pushing the boundaries

Three women who push "creative and intellectual boundaries" received honorary degrees from the University for the Creative Arts (UCA) last month.

Dr Tanya Harrod, a craft historian, Turner Contemporary director Victoria Pomery OBE, and internationally-renowned fashion designer Margaret Howell CBE received the awards at the Royal Festival Hall.

UCA Vice-Chancellor Simon Ofield-Kerr said: "I am delighted to be honouring three such talented and dedicated individuals at this year's graduation ceremonies."

"All three women have an impressive track record in pushing creative and intellectual boundaries. They will act as a real inspiration to the students graduating this year."

Dig's Roman treasures

Looking underground: Images of the dig at Church Meadow. Below the piece of Roman tableware

A fragment of Roman tableware, thought to depict a lion killing a gladiator, is among the recent exciting finds at an archaeological dig.

Nikki Cowlard, site director of the Church Meadow Project, said the piece of high-class tableware made in Gaul, known as Samian ware, was found last week at the site in Church Meadow, Ewell, which is about to be turned into a graveyard.

The dig is on the site of an important Roman road called Stane Street, but archaeologists have also unearthed Neolithic pottery that

by ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

predates the Roman finds by 3,000 years.

Ms Cowlard said: "The Samian shard is 2nd century in date and was made during the reign of Emperor Hadrian or Antoninus Pius."

Hadrian is known for building the wall marking the northern limit of Roman Britain and Antoninus was his adopted son.

She said they have also found personal adornments including brooches and a hairpin with a cone decoration at the end. She said: "We have found a number of coins with low dominations."

The excavation has now entered its second week and more than 70 volunteers are expected to dig or process finds on site over the three weeks the trench is open.

Ms Cowlard said: "Last year's excavation produced more than 2.5kg of Samian showing that Ewell was more than a small rural settlement."

"A series of Roman pits, ditches and gullies were uncovered beneath an area of disturbance caused by deep steam ploughing."

"Excitingly, a few shards of Neolithic pottery, more than 5,000 years old, were also found suggesting Ewell has always been a desirable place to live."

The site is the last open space in Ewell through which Stane Street, the Roman road between London and Chichester, is thought to have run.

It is likely that Roman Ewell grew up alongside the road, perhaps offering accommodation and supplies to travellers and acting as a market centre.

The nearby springs appear to have had a religious significance even before the Roman period and Stane Street is believed to have been diverted to pass by the springs.

St Mary's Church has granted permission for a series of excavations before the site is incorporated into the graveyard next door.

Digging deep: Matilda Senior and Sarah Sinclair EP77668

Ms Cowlard said: "This is the last opportunity to look at activity alongside the road and to chart the actual alignment of Stane Street as it heads north out of Ewell towards Southwark and Roman London."

Nescot student wins top national award

by ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

A female IT graduate is feeling like one in a million after being named Btec student of the year.

Mehreen Rana, 18, from the North East Surrey College of Technology (Nescot) in Ewell, received the Pearson's national Btec award last Thursday.

She said: "I'm so happy, but it was such a surprise and I still can't believe it."

The Epsom resident, who has just completed a level three Btec extended diploma in network and system support, is passionate about encouraging more women to join the IT sector.

She said: "At the moment, IT is really dominated by men, and I think it would be good for girls and women to show what we can do."

"I think a lot of girls are put off from studying IT and considering it as a career because they don't think it's for them but, if we can change that, I think it would benefit everyone."

Pearson, the owner of Btec awarding body Edexcel, received more than 700 nominations for this year's awards.

Almost one million people

Award winner:
Mehreen Rana

around the UK are studying for Btec qualifications this year.

Ms Rana received certificates, trophies, an iPad and a week of work experience with a well-known IT company. Pearson will also give resources to Nescot.

Ms Rana is on course to receive a distinction* grade and will read computer science at King's College London from September.

Rod Bristown, president of Pearson UK, said: "This year's judges were impressed by the quality and number of nominations, but Mehreen really stood out as a truly exceptional student."

The awards ceremony was hosted by Radio 1 DJ Matt Edmondson at Royal Horticultural Halls in central London.

Eco-message: Top chef Raymond Blanc

Chef's plea to compost

As the weather heats up, Michelin-star chef Raymond Blanc has urged people to get composting to make a positive difference to the environment.

Surrey County Council has sold nearly 14,000 compost bins as part of its discounted bin scheme in the past four years, which has helped to stop more than 8,000 tonnes of waste being disposed of.

Mr Blanc said: "The summer months are a good time of year to either start or keep composting because there's lots of material which can be thrown into the compost bin like grass cuttings and salad scraps from barbecue or torn up cardboard from packaging sleeves.

"I'd encourage anyone with a garden to give composting a go."

Surrey County Councillor John Furey said the council's campaign promotes the importance of composting, which is quick and easy to do.

Betting shop raid featured on Crimewatch programme

by HARDEEP MATHARU

hmatharu@london.newsquest.co.uk

CCTV footage showing masked robbers who fled with large quantities of cash from a betting shop in March has been featured on a television crime show in a bid to catch the criminals, who are still at large.

Crimewatch Roadshow, shown on BBC 1 at 9.15am on Friday, showed the CCTV images in a bid to get new information to allow police to catch those responsible for the robbery in Epsom.

The robbery happened at 9.20pm on Monday, March 18, at Betfred, in Epsom High Street, when two men entered the store and demanded cash.

One of them pinned a staff member down, holding her face to the floor.

They then fled with a large

Evidence: A CCTV image of the robbery

quantity of cash.

It is believed the robbers arrived and left the scene in a white Ford Connect van and police would like to speak to anyone who saw it being driven in suspicious circumstances in the area around the time of the incident.

Two men were arrested on suspicion of robbery shortly after the crime happened, but have been eliminated from the investigation.

Detective Constable Laura Chambers, of East Surrey CID, said: "This incident occurred during the evening in a town centre location and we are hopeful that by showing this CCTV on BBC Crimewatch Roadshow that someone may realise that they have information relating to the offence which could assist with our investigation."

Anyone with information should call the police on 101, quoting reference EP/13/1182, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Catch up with today's show on BBC iPlayer at bbc.co.uk/iplayer.

Scot celebrates 100th as Murray wins

A Scotsman, who has lived in Banstead for 60 years, celebrated his 100th birthday on the day fellow Scot Andy Murray won Wimbledon.

Peter Mason Woodrow cut his birthday cake with the mayor at Banstead Day Centre on Monday and celebrated again with bowling club members and friends on Tuesday.

Mr Woodrow, from Greenhayes Avenue, walks to the day centre a few times a week and Reigate and Banstead Mayor Councillor Dr Lynne Hack helped celebrate his birthday.

John Bryant, member of the day centre management committee, said: "He said 'when I came here 60 years ago I never dreamed I would be standing here at the age of 100'."

Mr Woodrow is a qualified accountant and used to work for the Ministry of Aircraft Production created the war.

Police link robbery with numberplate theft

Two men have been charged in connection with a robbery at a betting shop in Reigate last week.

Libian Handuele Ismail, 22, from London, and Omar Mohammed, 22, from Deptford, were charged yesterday and a third man released on police bail.

Three men in their 20s were arrested in Banstead after police stopped the suspected getaway car on Wednesday, July 3. The three men were arrested nearby.

Mr Ismail, of Edwards Street, and Mr Mohammed, of Idonia Street, have been remanded in custody to appear at Guildford Crown Court on July 26.

Police believe the theft of numberplates from a car parked in Parkgate Road, Reigate, is linked to the robbery at Corals, in Bell Street, at about 7.10pm.

At about 6.45pm it is thought thieves stole the numberplates and left the scene in a black Ford Mondeo car.

Shortly after police were called to the betting shop after three men escaped with a quantity of cash.

Detective Inspector Sean Kelly said: "We are still in the early stages of the investigation, but we believe this incident connects to the subsequent robbery."

Call Surrey Police on 101, quoting reference RB/13/5310, or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Welcome: Visitors to the WAF event

Animal fun

Families went behind the scenes at a wild animal hospital founded by a wildlife champion and TV presenter.

Despite the glorious weather, fewer people than usual turned out to the open day on Sunday, July 7, at the Wildlife Aid Foundation's (WAF) centre for sick, injured and orphaned animals in Leatherhead.

WAF founder Simon Cowell, known for documentary series Wildlife SOS, thanked everyone who came, the volunteers who organised the day and supporters who donated items to stalls.

Mr Cowell said: "It was a hugely enjoyable day for everyone who came, but we were seriously down on numbers this time and that will I'm sure be reflected in the amount of money raised.

"I think it shows how much more difficult it is nowadays to get people along to charity fundraising events. The economic climate is still bad, even here in relatively affluent Surrey.

"All charities are affected, not just WAF."

Proof of 'dying' trade

The closure of Pizza Hut has strengthened the resolve of councillors to turn Epsom High Street into a more vibrant place for businesses.

A Pizza Hut spokeswoman said they closed the restaurant at the weekend because there were not enough customers but would continue to deliver pizzas in Epsom.

The restaurant was located at the end of the high street, leading to Upper High Street, a stretch that worried retailers have previously warned is "dying".

Residents' Association Councillor Neil Dallen said: "It's a pity because we want more businesses to come in, not lose what we have.

"We can't control the economic climate, but we can make Epsom a bigger and better place to do business." Liberal Democrat Councillor Julie Morris said: "We need to address this town of two halves. We are hopeful something will be done to Upper High Street."

In January Christine Stanley, owner of women's boutique Basler, said the high street was getting more quiet further down.

A Pizza Hut spokeswoman said: "We continually evaluate the location of our restaurants to ensure they are in the best possible areas to meet consumer demand, and as a result of this process have closed our restaurant in Epsom.

"Our staff were offered relocation to other restaurants in the area, where possible."

Calling for peace talks

I would like to congratulate Jim McClusky (Aware of Arms, June 27) for pointing out that “people realise the arms trade is about killing people and is inexcusable”.

You would imagine that this would be universally accepted in an ideal world by intelligent people. This is not an ideal world and, unfortunately, a number of politicians are far from intelligent, lacking in basic morals and place the arms trade as a priority in a country's prosperity.

Blair and Bush hardly set a good example with their ventures in Iraq and Afghanistan.

We should deter if necessary Cameron and America making a similar mistake in Syria. What has been achieved in Iraq and Afghanistan?

Ten thousand deaths in Syria is terrible, but common sense should warn us that, if we arm the rebels, China, Iran and Russia will arm the Assad regime and ensure that the bloodshed increases.

The only sensible approach is to urge all sides to a peace conference. Sooner rather than later is my plea.

House restoration will get Downs on the up again

Having read with interest the article about Downs House (Council to sell historic house for just £1.1m, June 20), I felt compelled to send in my opinion on its sale price.

What must remain paramount to the council is ensuring that whoever buys Downs House is buying the property not because it is the sale of the century, but because they wish to bring the prestige back to the house and land and maintain it.

The property is featured on television during every Derby and it is a landmark place – beautiful and imposing – but one that requires an enormous amount of work.

There are 10 acres of land that currently have hazardous waste around many parts (asbestos, and horse waste of colossal volumes, even though the council has already removed a huge amount) that will need to be professionally cleared.

The house does need major refurbishment, not just on the inside but externally too.

There have been some unauthorised amendments to the Grade II listed Eclipse Barn, that will have to be changed so that they are in keeping with current planning permissions, examples of this being concrete placed over flooring brick sets in the barn and exterior building bricks of modern age used to replace where the corner of the barn has been driven into by a lorry.

The cesspit on the boundaries of the property also needs to be refurbished and potentially replaced.

The price for the property is actually more than £1.1m, as this is exempt of VAT, which needs to be added to the sale price, therefore making it £1.32m – I believe that stamp duty is naturally added, but VAT is added too as it is a business.

There is also a very narrow audience to sell this property to, and obstacles such as Walton Road, the road that traverses over the Downs to the house itself, is a road that has no clear guidelines as to whom would be responsible for it – the owners of Downs House, Epsom Racecourse or the council.

In my opinion, the price looks cheap for the area but, as with many things, one has to trust the experts who valued it and then ask why the price is so low compared to other properties in the vicinity.

The very important issue at hand is to make sure the property is not left empty and unkept for much longer.

The sooner there is someone in Downs House to nurture it back to its full glory and celebrate the beautiful architecture of both the house and Eclipse Barn, the better. The Downs and Epsom will be better for it.

Thumbs up

I would reiterate everything mentioned in the letter from Jane Povey (Hooray for hospital, July 4) and would add that the food, often a stumbling block for hospitals, was very good during my recent stay at the Elective Orthopaedic Centre, where I received knee surgery.

Epsom General Hospital also deserves praise. Waiting in a corridor then seeing a consultant in a broom cupboard is not ideal, but it is an old building. When admitted a while back, the staff and treatment were excellent.

Hip hip hooray

Regarding Jane Povey's letter (Hooray for hospital, July 4), I was pleased to read how well her partner was treated at the Elective Orthopaedic Centre in Epsom.

I underwent a hip replacement recently, as did her partner, and cannot put into words how well I was treated.

The team was extremely kind and reassuring. I agree with all of what Jane has said.

It's time to bring an end to road parking

Many people have grown up with the idea that the roads are there for the parking of their cars – for free.

This is a misconception and the general public, those who use the roads as permanent parking places, need to think again as we are in a multiple-car a family age.

Many considerate residents have made provisions for parking their cars off-road. Cars parked in the road inconvenience all others as well as being eyesores.

It is about time that the council introduced a borough-wide annual charge for road parking.

You park in the road, you pay or park off-road.

Graffiti vandal gets 27 months' jail

by ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

A serial vandal has been jailed for a graffiti spree on trains that caused £60,000 damage over more than a year.

Tomasz Haluszczak, 26, of Hook Road, Epsom, was jailed for 27 months last Thursday after being found guilty of 14 counts of criminal damage caused by graffiti.

Blackfriars Crown Court heard Haluszczak tagged trains with Rico, Ocir and Coir across London, the south-east and in the West Midlands.

He was finally arrested after two security staff spotted him near a train yard fence at Epsom station on September 6, 2011.

Police caught him emerging from bushes with tins of spray paint in his backpack.

Officers later seized graffiti paraphernalia, including spray cans, ink markers and high-visibility jackets, from his home as part of a British Transport Police investigation. He targeted Coventry, Chessington South, Horsham and Cannon Street stations among other locations.

Graffiti attacks were carried out in Epsom between November and December 2010.

The jury unanimously convicted Haluszczak and he was sentenced to 27 months in custody for each of 14 counts to run concurrently.

Behind bars: Serial vandal Tomasz Haluszczak

He carried out four graffiti attacks on trains in Epsom between November and December 2010, which cost an estimated £27,817.

Judge Daniel Worsley said: "You have shown no remorse, it was self-indulgent and you have caused huge disruption."

"It was deliberate and well-planned, it was an anarchic attack on the community and you have lied and kept on lying in the face of overwhelming evidence."

Detective Sergeant Paddy Kerr said: "Haluszczak has been a prolific vandal over a number of years and the court imposed a substantial custodial sentence on a man who has consistently shown no regard for the law, for private property, or for those who ultimately have to pay for the cost of cleaning up his graffiti."

"Vandals like Haluszczak cause huge disruption to passengers and train companies with the damage they cause and we will always seek to prosecute anyone who commits such crime."

"This sentence should act as a deterrent to anyone thinking about copying his actions."

"Graffiti vandals who go near tracks also put themselves at serious risk of harm as they don't know if a train is coming or if tracks are live – it's an incredibly selfish risk to take."

Eco-lighting saves money

Energy-efficient LED lighting is to be introduced at Epsom town hall and at a council recycling depot at a cost of almost £55,000.

Councillors have given the green light for the investment on the ground floor at the town hall and the Longmead depot in a bid to help reduce costs and greenhouse gas emissions.

The strategy and resources committee on June 25 agreed to the spend to save initiative that is expected to save £8,000 a year in electricity and recoup its cost within six to seven years.

Committee chairman Councillor Neil Dallen said the investment would help save money, electricity and the world by reducing the council's carbon footprint, adding: "It's win, win, win."

Liberal Democrat Councillor Julie Morris said: "While money is scarce, if we can make long-term savings to running costs then it has to be money well spent."

"If we invest in 'spend to save' projects while we have got money it means the basic running costs of the local authority will be as small as it can be in the future."

The introduction of LED technology in council properties has already resulted in savings.

There was a 77 per cent reduction in energy consumption at Hook Road car park and a 49 per cent reduction at the Ashley Centre car park between April 2009 and April 2013.

Oil spillage after crash

A car hit a bollard and left a trail of engine oil at a roundabout on Sunday evening.

Firefighters were called to an oil spill following a traffic accident at Givons Grove roundabout, in Leatherhead, at 6.15pm.

A Leatherhead fire station spokesman said: "A car had hit a bollard just prior to the roundabout, drove off and left oil all down the road."

He said they used oil absorbent pads to soak up the spill and spread dry earth on the road to get rid of the remainder and prevent further accidents.

Food for thought: Staff from McDonald's who took part in the litter picking exercise

Helpful staff clear litter

Staff at a fast food restaurant put something back into the community by going litter picking.

McDonald's workers in Cheam got together to pick up litter and pull out poisonous ragwort weeds in Nonsuch Park last week.

Kayleigh Bexley, group administrator for six restaurants in the area, said: "It's nice to be able to put something back."

"It's good to show we are here for the community."

"I think everyone had a good time."

Police appeal after men attempt to steal cash from shop

Police are appealing for help to catch two men who tried to grab money from a newsagent's till.

A balaclava-clad man and a man with scarf around his face attempted to steal from the store in Marbles Way, Tadworth, at about 5pm on Thursday, July 4.

The white man wearing the scarf was of medium build. The other man was black, skinny, about 5ft 10in, in his late 20s or early 30s and wore a high-visibility jacket and black leggings.

Detective Constable Jo

Clarke said: "I would appeal to anyone who has information on this offence to contact Surrey Police as a matter of urgency as we need to catch those responsible and bring them to justice."

"It is believed the two men were seen loitering in the area outside the parade of shops for some time before the offence so I believe someone will have information which will assist with our investigation."

Reigate and Banstead safer neighbourhood team have been assisting East Surrey CID with their investigation.

Anyone with information should call Surrey Police on 101, quoting reference RB/13/5347, or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Choir calls the tune for charity

A community choir sang to aid of Cherry Trees respite care home in East Clandon near Guildford.

Founder and musical director Hazel Hannam said: "What an audience. Packed again, there were around 200 people with standing room only."

"It's a real compliment to the choir that so many people come, not just because they want to support the choir, but because they really enjoy the singing."

The choir sang songs by artists such as Joni Mitchell, Billy Joel, George Harrison and the Beach Boys as well a classic by Bach and a traditional folk song.

BACK to the 70s

An Epsom band "living, eating, breathing, sleeping" authentic 1970s rock has landed a recording contract under the direction of glam rock front-man Ray Stiles of Mud fame, writes Hardeep Matharu.

Classic rock band Mothership has signed with Right Recordings, a label which distributes under Universal Records.

Formed in 2011, the band - consisting of Jack Stiles, 22, Pete Lance, 22, Frankie Lewis, 24, and Charlie Skeggs, 21 - recorded their first album with the help of Jack's dad Ray in his recording studio in Epsom.

Ray Stiles had hit records including Tiger Feet, the UK's biggest-selling single of 1974.

Following in the footsteps of Deep Purple, Led Zepelin and Guns 'n' Roses, Jack says the band's "melodic" music stays true to the spirit of 1970s rock - "when it was about having a passion for the music and just playing it, whether it was loved or hated".

He says: "Most of the bands today will do classic rock music and put their twist on it and don't capture what 70s music was about.

"A lot of bands like to play loud and aggressive, everything we do is very melodic."

Jack says the band's commitment has landed them the "first step" to making it big, and that his biggest tip for aspiring bands is "get out there and do it" because "it can't be a hobby on the side".

"It's hard work. We've gigged all over the place - sometimes we've played to no one, sometimes to 200 people. Don't give up. People will step over you and say you're rubbish." Ray's biggest advice for the band was "be true to yourself".

He says: "Whatever you do, you have to believe in it. There's no point being half-hearted."

Mothership's success in nabbing a record deal has shown him how much the music industry has changed since Mud's heyday.

He says: "There are so many demands these days and you have to be really, really, good.

"You have to have the right songs and do your own videos. In my day somebody would see you and say 'they're OK, we'll take them'.

"I learned that nothing lasts forever and you're only as good as your last record. If you want longevity, do something natural to you, don't go in for fads."

What-ever you do, you have to believe in it

The summer months are here and with it the holidays, so what better time to venture outside of London to find some good activities, writes Andy Bloss.

We all know within the M25 there are plenty of things to do but there are a whole host of different places to visit outside of the capital, usually only a short train ride or drive away.

With the summer holidays approaching Vibe has come up with a few ideas of places which should appeal to all the family.

● Historic family home, Penshurst Place and Gardens in Tonbridge, complete with maze, was built in the 14th century and has more than 40 acres of land.

Over the summer it is putting on a series of events to suit all ages, including medieval-themed Sundays and a Knight's School for children.

Visit penshurstplace.com or call 1892 870307.

● If you are someone who fancies a flutter, then perhaps a day or evening at the races might be your cup of tea.

Lingfield Racecourse, based in the peaceful Surrey countryside, has a number of events taking place over the summer.

Its next big highlight is Ladies' Evening on July 20, which is an evening of racing followed by live entertainment on the outdoor stage.

Visit lingfieldpark.co.uk or call 01342 834800

● Pod London in Whyteleafe is the largest zorbing park in the country.

Zorbing involves getting into a giant transparent plastic sphere and rolling down a hill.

● Vibe also recommends a trip to Brighton, where festivals are taking place throughout July and August, including the Kite Festival and Soundwaves music festival, and also to the ever-popular Thorpe Park.

The time of their lives

Two college friends will have the time of their lives as they star opposite each other on stage in Dirty Dancing.

Charlotte Gooch and Paul-Michael Jones, who studied together in Epsom, play dance instructors Penny Johnson and Johnny Castle in Dirty Dancing – The Classic Story, on Stage at the Piccadilly Theatre.

Gooch and Jones were often partnered together at Epsom's performing arts college Laine Theatre Arts because they were a good match height-wise.

Back during their second year Gooch confessed to her house-mate Jones that she had never seen the film Dirty Dancing.

She says: "He was shocked that as a dancer I had never seen it so we watched it together, never ever, ever imagining at one point we would be playing Johnny and Penny together."

The pair graduated in 2007, after sharing the same house for their second and third years.

Gooch, from Guildford, says: "I never dreamed I would be playing a leading role let alone opposite Jones. He is one of my best friends so I could not ask for a better person to share the Dirty Dancing roles with.

"Penny and Johnny are best friends that have been dancing together since they were children so it suits Paul-Michael and I perfectly."

● Dirty Dancing – The Classic Story on Stage, Piccadilly Theatre, the West End, from Saturday, July 13; call 0844 412 666 or visit piccadillytheatre.org.

DIRTY DANCING

Movie Magic

Kids and grown-ups love the boy wizard, writes Khaleda Rahman.

So if you're at a loss for what to do over the seemingly endless school holidays, why not take a family trip to the Warner Bros Studio Tour London – The Making of Harry Potter?

Located a stone's throw from Watford, in Leavesden, hundreds of crew members were involved in turning the studios into the home of Harry Potter for more than a decade of production.

This unique walking tour is the ultimate treat for fans to take a behind-the-scenes journey into the making of the most successful film franchise of all time.

Visitors can take a stroll down Diagon Alley, admire the Ministry of Magic, explore Dumbledore's office and take a peek into 4 Privet Drive to name but a few of the sets on show.

The highlight of the tour is one of Hogwarts' most memorable locations – the breathtaking Great Hall, a setting for many a lavish feast and don't miss the art department's crowning jewel – an intricate scale model of Hogwarts castle.

Footage of the meticulous model was combined with digital effects to create the realistic views seen in the films.

Sarah Roots, vice-president of the studios, says: "What makes this tour so special is that everything on show has been used in the making of the Harry Potter film series.

"All the sets, props and costumes are authentic and show the incredible detail and craftsmanship that goes into film production.

"All the films were shot in Leavesden so it is wonderful to have given the sets a permanent home here."

From July 26 until September, the studios will host their first Summer Spelltacular – a chance for visitors to delve into the world of spell casting and wizard duels.

See how spells came to life on screen, take part in a special effects demo in Diagon Alley, or learn wand battle choreography from Wand Combat expert Paul Harris.

To get there, there are fast trains from Euston to Watford Junction with shuttle buses for ticket holders to and from Watford Junction.

● The making of Harry Potter, Warner Bros Studio Tour, London, Leavesden; July 26 until September 11; £29 adults, "£1.59 children, £85 family of four; tickets must be booked in advance; visit wbstudio.tour.co.uk.

Thrilling stunts and air displays

One of the UK's most popular family days out, Wings & Wheels, is returning to Dunsfold Aerodrome, near Cranleigh, Surrey, on Saturday and Sunday, August 24 and 25, showcasing some of the airfield's iconic aviation and motoring history.

Visitors to the aerodrome will be treated to an awe-inspiring five hours of air displays including such favourites as The Red Arrows, BBMF and the Avro Vulcan all of which are accompanied by witty and knowledgeable commentary from aviation experts and display pilots.

The Wheels section offers a heady mix of thrilling stunts and an adrenaline pumping two-hour motoring demonstration which blasts down the main runway on to the Top Gear track and includes an eclectic mix of modern day supercars as well as classic and vintage favourites. In the Stunt Zone world record j-turns, fast action parallel parking, pirouettes and two wheel driving are just some of the outstanding motoring action running every hour.

The show arena covers 32 acres and offers something for all the family. Highlights include the 1940s Zone with hourly Jive master classes, re-enactment groups and authentic shopping.

The arena also includes visitor favourites such as aviation and motoring simulators, children's inflatables, a fairground, interactive car shows and more than 80 retail stalls.

Tickets start from £20 for adults, £45 for a family (two adults and three children aged five to 15), £6 for children aged five to 15. Under fives are free.

Turning clients' lives round through hypnotherapy

If you ask hypnotherapist John Mill why he calls himself 'director of possibilities', he will tell you how many people he has helped in Sutton over the last three years.

"A client can walk in to see me with a 20 year disorder and be cured within just a few sessions," says John.

"I have helped people boost their confidence so they have overcome their fear of making a wedding speech, public speaking, phobias of heights, flying, driving, spiders, mice, dogs and more.

"I have helped clients attract the right partner and remove negative relationships from their life.

"I have helped ease clients' physical pain, help the bereaved, raised people's self esteem.

"I can help clients stop having panic attacks, procrastinating, excessive drinking, smoking and using substances. I have helped people overcome depression and anxiety and helped others lose weight."

One of John's clients Adam Kensett said: "When I came to see John, I didn't really know what had happened to me.

"I had gone from being adventurous, happy and outgoing to panicky, anxious and withdrawn. I could barely leave my road. Within six weeks John helped me completely turn my life around.

"I am now back to how I used to be and have so much more confidence in the future and present."

Splashing fun for all

Finding activities that everyone can enjoy over the summer holidays can be a challenge! With its Olympic sized ice rink, 32 lane ten pin bowl, four pools including a leisure pool, a soft play area, gym, sports arena and aerobics studio all under one roof, Guildford Spectrum, managed by Freedom Leisure, offers the perfect solution.

Its great value Family Fun ticket and free parking means it's affordable too. For just £39 a family of four can choose two of the different activities on offer - choosing from swimming, skating and bowling. Alternatively make a day of it and do all three activities for £59 per family.

Adult and junior individual tickets are also available. If all that activity makes you hungry enjoy one of the four family friendly catering outlets on site.

Guildford Spectrum is also a great place to visit during term-time. Its Toddler Splash sessions take place in the Leisure Pool on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. These friendly, safe sessions are perfect for under fives who need to build confidence in water.

Guildford Spectrum's soft play, Specky's Pirate Ship, is also very popular. Its four floors provide a challenging and fun-filled environment for under 10s. Specky's is designed and built to the highest safety standards with padding in all areas - so children really can go wild! Features include a box maze, ball ponds, pirate bash bags, a tube slide, cargo net, sky glide and tram-poline.

For more information about all the activities at Guildford Spectrum call 01483 443322 or visit www.guildfordspectrum.co.uk.

From July 22 to 26 and July 29 to August 2, Surrey's premiere youth music school is offering young musicians the chance to participate in a five-day intensive course in rock music, band skills, song-writing and live performance for guitar, bass, drums and vocals.

Realistic Music Academy tutors, who between them have notched up two top 20 hit records and have played with the Kaiser Chiefs and Bloc Party at Brixton Academy, will be on hand to give expert advice.

Showhome launched

Classic design and relaxed living go hand-in-hand at Regency Place in Walton-on-the-Hill, where the second Millgate show home has just been launched.

This exclusive collection of six country homes priced from £1.5 million has already proved popular with three downsizing couples who had been searching for the perfect home now that the children have flown the nest.

Jonathan Cranley, sales and marketing director of Millgate said: "Leaving behind their larger properties, these buyers were looking for homes still within Surrey but which were easier to maintain and had the feeling of space that their previous homes had offered. Perfectly situated on a quiet residential road, walking distance to one of the finest golf courses in the area and just under a mile to the picturesque village of Walton-on-the-Hill, Regency Place ticks all the boxes.

"We have been delighted with the interest that this development has received over the past few weeks since launch."

Richard Saunders, director of appointed selling agents, Richard

Saunders, said: "We have not had a soul through the doors of Regency Place who has not been blown away by the beautiful composition of a luxury house with the most incredible interior design."

For more information telephone 01737 819744 or visit www.millgatehomes.co.uk to arrange a private viewing appointment.

Londoners predict house prices will continue to rise

A new YouGov poll reveals an overwhelming majority of Londoners believe that house prices in the capital will continue to rise, both in the short and long term.

More than three-quarters (77 per cent) of people living in London say the average house price will rise over the next 12 months, and an even greater proportion of Londoners (83 per cent) think house prices will go up over the next five years.

Asked what they think will happen to the average house price in their local area, and 74 per cent of Londoners predict it will go up over the next 12 months, while 80 per cent foresee house prices rising in their area over the next five years.

Commenting on the poll results, YouGov director of political and social research Joe Twyman said: "It doesn't matter if you're talking about the next year or the next five years, overwhelmingly Londoners believe that house prices will continue to rise in the capital, and that their own house will also increase in value.

"If house prices are a bubble, a lot of people are going to be caught by surprise when it bursts."

Of those surveyed, 44 per cent put the borough of Kensington and Chelsea in their top three, despite the fact that it is already the most expensive borough, with an average house price of nearly £1.5m according to recent figures. Next in line was Westminster, picked by 35 per cent, which, in fact, also saw the greatest rise in average house price last year – an increase of 35.6 per cent over 12 months.

Chosen by 29 per cent, The City of London followed close behind, with Richmond upon Thames (selected by 20 per cent), Hammersmith and Fulham (by 10 per cent) and Kingston upon Thames (also by 10 per cent) rounding out the picks in double-digits.

Londoners were also asked whether the Mayor of London should be given complete control over London property taxes, including council tax, stamp duty and business rates. Half opposed this measure and only a third (32 per cent) supported it.

MINI has revealed that its all-wheel drive system, ALL4, is now available for the MINI Cooper Countryman and the MINI Cooper Paceman, writes Philip Shoulder.

This increases the number of all-wheel versions within the MINI model range to 10 models.

The new models are also fitted with 6-speed manual transmission as standard, with 6-speed automatic transmission available as an option.

With the enhanced traction and driving stability, the permanent all-wheel drive system helps the driver stay in control while driving on snow, sand or slippery surfaces, as well as offering extra grip on twisty roads.

Mini's ALL4 four-wheel drive is based on an electromagnetic centre differential and distributes drive force at continuously variable levels between the front and rear axle. Its electronic control system is integrated directly in the DSC control unit (Dynamic Stability Control), enabling it to direct drive torque quickly to where it can be most effectively transformed into propulsion.

In the new models, MINI Cooper Countryman ALL4 and MINI Cooper Paceman ALL4, the all-wheel drive system distributes the power of a 1.6-litre 4-cylinder engine with an output of 122 bhp between the front and rear wheels.

As a result, the MINI Cooper Countryman ALL4 manages a respectable from 0 to 62mph time of 11.9 seconds and a top speed of 114 mph.

Performance is coupled with economy and efficiency, with an average combined consumption of 40.9 mpg and emissions of 167g per/km of CO2.

According to MINI, the relationship between driving fun and fuel consumption is equally impressive in the MINI Cooper Paceman ALL4.

This model takes a claimed 11.8 seconds to accelerate from standing to 62mph and attains a top speed of 115mph.

With this extension of the model range there will be four versions of each of the MINI Countryman and MINI Paceman with optional ALL4 in future.

Me & My MOTOR BY GRANT BEALE

Grant Beale, 41, general sales manager for Mercedes, Kingston, has always been passionate about cars.

The first car he fell for was an electric blue VW Beetle 1303s (flatscreen).

"It was in mint condition and cost me about £2,500. That was in 1989 when I was a bit of a party animal and wanted a cool car."

Grant first started working for Mercedes as a sales executive 12 years ago, working his way up to general sales manager first at Waltham Cross, then Epsom and now Kingston.

Now happily married with two young children, he drives a Mercedes E250 CDI Cabriolet Sport.

"I love everything about the car - it looks and drives superbly," he says.

"But if money was no object I would love to own a Bentley Continental GTC with a cream interior. I think it is the best looking car on the road - a beautiful classic."

One in the i for other marques

Hyundai models have taken top honours in three out of five popular classes ranking value for money in the annual Which? Car Survey.

Delivering a product that is good value means much more than just purchase cost.

The overall ownership package – quality, efficiency, servicing, specification and safety – all represent key criteria when looking at true value.

The Hyundai i10, ix20 and ix35 led the way in each of their respective categories, with owners awarding high marks for overall value when looking at aspects such as purchase price, standard equipment and running costs.

The ix20

editor of Which? magazine, said: "The Which? Car Survey is the UK's biggest, with more than 39,292 people responding about 47,716 cars they own.

"It gives owners a chance to provide their views on how reliable and satisfying their cars have been over the preceding 12 months across several key areas, and it's easy to see that Hyundai is the brand that stands out the most in terms of overall value for money."

The Hyundai range starts with the i10 and prices start from just £6,995. In addition, the equipment specification across the range remains impressive with air conditioning, USB/AUX inputs, four airbags, six-speaker stereo, electric windows and central locking.

All models are backed by the manufacturer's fully transferable Five Year Triple Care Warranty. It includes a five-year mileage vehicle warranty, five years' free vehicle healthchecks and five years roadside assistance.

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General

1. The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.

3. The advertiser further confirms that:

- i) the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;
- ii) all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);
- iii) in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.

5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.

6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation

8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.

9. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

10. We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

12. We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.

13. We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newsquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.

14. The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.

15. We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

Method of payment

We will be pleased to accept your payment by any of the following methods: • CHEQUE - Made payable to NEWSQUEST (LONDON) LTD. • BACS - Electronic Bank Transfer • CASH - Paid to one of our Branch Offices. • CREDIT/DEBIT CARD - Please phone to pay by Visa/Mastercard/Switch/Delta

Salts learn their FA Cup fate

Epsom & Ewell opened their pre-season schedule last Saturday with a 3-3 draw with Horsham YMCA. The Salts, who ply their trade in the Premier Division of the Combined Counties League, have also discovered they will go to Whyteleafe on August 17 in the extra preliminary round of the FA Cup.

Should they win, they could face Epsom Athletic, who have to get past Croydon first of all, in the preliminary round on August 31.

Shona's Euro goal

Ewell's hurdling star of the future Shona Richards has been selected to represent Great Britain at next week's European Junior Championships in Rieti, Italy.

The 17-year-old pupil from Glyn School will compete in the 400m hurdles after qualifying in 58.88 seconds at the English Schools Championships last weekend.

Richards is ranked second in the UK in the U20s 400m hurdles.

Belles will have a ball

Former Beechholme Belles footballer Fern Colepio has won a scholarship to play in the USA Conference League for Louisiana Tech University from next month.

The 17-year-old started at Banstead-based Beechholme Belles aged 11, and went on to play for Fulham Academy, Chelsea Ladies and Millwall Lionesses.

Inspired by Colepio's success, the club is looking to recruit new players.

Beechholme chairman Jim Hoborn said: "This is fantastic for Fern and for the club. Everyone at the club wishes her the best for a successful time in the USA."

"She is a great inspiration for all girls playing football and we hope girls will want to follow her lead."

The club is holding a free open day on July 14 at Beechholme recreation ground, Osier Way, Banstead, from 10am, with training sessions for girls of all abilities. For further details, go to beechholmebellesbanstead.co.uk.

Euro hope

Jack Neill will turn out for the Ireland gymnastics team at next week's European Youth Olympic Festival.

The 17-year-old from Ewell was selected after representing Ireland at last year's Junior European Championships in Montpellier in the junior team event, finishing 62nd overall.

Next week's festival, that starts on Monday, is in Utrecht, Holland.

All rounder: Adam Dyson, with the bat, hit 32, but he excelled with the ball, taking 7-45

Dyson hooovers up Cheam

Adam Dyson was on top form on Saturday, taking seven wickets to keep Leatherhead top of the Division One table in the Surrey Championship.

Cheam were the victims on their own ground as Dyson (7-45) struck to help skittle Cheam for just 188 off 59 overs – opener Bradley Scriven hit 102.

In reply, Adrian Kritzingher hit 77 in the middle order to steady the ship after Leatherhead found themselves rocking on 65-4.

In the end, Shaun Udall and Russell Coombes saw Leatherhead over the line in the 43rd over.

Leatherhead host bottom club Farnham on Saturday.

In the Premier Division, Banstead dropped to fourth after a losing draw at home to Wimbledon.

Daniel Newton and Harsha Vithana both hit centuries to reach 286-4, and the visitors ended on 259-6.

There's no room for complacency here

by TIM ASHTON

tim.ashton@london.newsquest.co.uk

Epsom CC's skipper Danny Secchi said his side's remarkable unbeaten start to the season is down to pre-planning and confidence.

However, he has also warned his team-mates that the hard work starts now.

Epsom have beaten all comers to sit pretty on top of Division Three, and last weekend's 126-run win at Chipstead Coulsden & Walcottians stretched their unbeaten run to nine games and their lead at the top to 28 points.

Secchi said anything other than promotion as champions would be a disappointment, but they are now firmly in the firing line.

"We are the scalp that other teams want now – they are out gunning for us because of this unbeaten run," he said.

"No one ever won a prize for finishing top of the table at the halfway point, we just need to maintain our consistency and work."

"Complacency is a dirty word at Epsom, it is something I won't allow to creep in."

"It is all about keeping our discipline, and making sure that we do our pre-match work-outs."

Epsom have endured a tough few years – relegated in consecutive seasons, and only avoiding relegation to Division Four last term in the final knockings.

But, this time around, the side has been in training since February, but the skipper said their success is down to more than just practice.

"There are some of us in the team who know we won't be playing cricket at his level for much longer, and I think we've pulled our finger out a bit to go out with a bang," he said.

"We have shown real commitment this season, better than I can remember, and it has shown."

"We have great confidence and momentum, and we have got the batting right."

"The guys are staying in, building partnerships, and that is what you need to put pressure on the opposition."

"I bat right down the order, and I've only got to the crease once this season – that says it all."

Secchi hailed the form of overseas star from South Africa Godfrey Stevens, who showed why with a top all-round display against Coulsden.

With the bat, Stevens hit an unbeaten 106, before taking 3-31 with the ball – his batting average sits at 71, while his economy is a miserly two.

Epsom finished on 249-4, and then skittled Coulsden for 123 in the 40th over.

"Godfrey has been great this season," Secchi said.

"But some of the other lads have stepped up to the mark as well."

"Rob Lowe has been at the club for about 25 years, and his average was up around 137 a few weeks ago. It is down to a more manageable 72 now, but he has been a real stalwart at the club."

"As has Ben Hudson, who has played really well this season."

Epsom host Bank of England this weekend at the Francis Schnadhorst Memorial Ground.

SPORTSbrief

ATHLETICS: Tadworth AC's veteran runner Geoff Newton joined a field of 609 for the Bewl 15-mile race, an off-road event near Bewl Water, Sussex. In baking hot conditions, Newton finished 81st in one hour, 59 minutes, 24 seconds, winning the men's over-65 class.

FOOTBALL: Epsom & Ewell Colts are starting a new league team for U10s (year 5 from September) to play in the Epsom & Ewell league next season. Training is on Thursday evenings, matches on Saturday mornings. Players must be registered by August 1. For details and trials, contact Bob Nightingale on 01372 810466 or email bob.nightingaleuk@yahoo.co.uk.

BOWLS: Banstead Neville Bowling Club welcomed 14 teams to Avenue Road on Saturday for their annual Open Triples Day Tournament. The finals ended in a win for Sutton Indoor BC, with Malden Manor in second, Sutton Ladies third and Purley Bury fourth.

CYCLING: Stephen Emmerson continued his dominance of the Epsom Cycling Club events by winning the Tuesday evening 10-mile race in 22 minutes, 52 seconds, ahead of Richard Varian (24:48), Tim Widenburg (25:59) and John Tindall (27:40). Elsewhere, Jonathan Thomas completed the Hampshire Road Club 50-mile event in 1:59:55.

MOTORSPORT: Banstead racing driver Matt Flowers is back behind the wheel this weekend at the Spa Francorchamps circuit in Belgium for the fifth round of the Ginetta GT5 Challenge. Flowers lies 10th in the standings with nine races remaining.

Predatorz's medal haul

The GBMAA Predatorz returned from the ICO British Championships in Birmingham last week with 24 medals.

Representing Epsom, Leatherhead, Cobham, Guildford and Croydon academies, the 23 fighters, aged from six to adults, put their motto "train hard, win easy" to good use.

Ellen Michael, 14, led the way with four gold medals in both fighting and forms, while nine-year-old Poppy Giles, Katie Harrison, 15, Danielle Chouls, 13, Naomi Norris, 14, and Roxy Carbery, 19, also picked up gold medals.

Instructor Linvell Taylor returned as a double British champion with two golds in the categories discipline.

Cerize Power, 12, Isabelle Govinden, seven, Jessica Murdoch, eight, Kane Hirst nine, Saffron Exton, 14, Shay Frampton, 13, Issie Carrol, 15, and instructor Brian Kum all won silver.

Bronze medals were won by Carrol, Kum, Exton, Maddie Rolfe and Samuel Govinden.

Special sporting festival hits the spot

Fun day: The Children's Trust at Tolworth

More than 140 pupils from special schools around Surrey descended on Tadworth Court to join children from the Children's Trust for a celebration of sport festival.

Each participating school, including Woodlands School in Leatherhead, was represented by a national flag, from 21 countries, and young torch bearers from the Children's Trust officially opened the event by lighting a flame.

The aim of the festival, now in its third year, was to give children with disabilities the opportunity to experience and enjoy a variety of sports, including football, hockey, bocce, cricket and rugby.

This year, an additional interactive entertainment of radio-controlled boats, in a specially built temporary pool, proved to be a great hit.

For more information on the work of the Trust, which is based in Tadworth, go to thechildrenstrust.org.uk.

Time to change your mattress?

Most people sleep on it and pay the price.

A tired mattress can leave you feeling just as tired too

By Sandra Haynes

Is your mattress over 7 years old, saggy or just not as comfortable as it used to be? Putting off replacing it can lead to disturbed sleep, morning tiredness, stiff neck and back ache. In fact, it's the main reason for lack of sleep for most people – they just don't realize it.

Buying a new mattress might seem like an expense you can manage without but it's one of the most valuable things you can do to improve your health and general well being.

What happens to your old mattress over time?

The main problem is deteriorating support. Over time, the springs inside your mattress lose their firmness so they start to sag under your weight. Eventually they become so weakened they retain your shape creating dips and hollows across the surface of the mattress. It's this unevenness and lack of support that causes the body to toss and turn during the night. The lumpier it gets the more disturbed sleep you're likely to get.

The benefits of a new mattress to you

You'll literally notice the difference overnight! From the moment you lie on it to when you wake up in the morning, a new mattress will transform your whole body and your mood too.

- You'll sleep better for longer
- Fall asleep quicker and easier
- Wake up feeling far more refreshed
- Aches and pains will simply fade away
- Well rested you'll feel happier in yourself
- You'll find you have more energy
- Handle the stresses of the day much more easily

Right now, you'll PAY LESS to regain a good nights sleep with our EXTRA DISCOUNT SPECIAL OFFER!
